report of the first ordinary general meeting of the Oriental Telephone Company (Limited), which was held on the 3rd June, at the City Terminus Hotel.-Mr Pender, M.P. presiding. We have before referred to this Company as purposing to establish a system of telephonic communication here. Their application is one of these now before following brief summary of the Chairman's speech gives a sufficiently clear idea of the business for our readers: As they were aware, the telephone had been much before the public lately. Its object was to supply a want which, so far, telegraph had not been able to supply. It could be worked in parfect harmony with the telegraphy. When they looked to the enormous progress of the telephone in America it was very encouraging to this company. There were 408 exchanges in operation in America at the end of February. last, only nine cities of more than 10,000 inhabitants being without an exchange The reason why the system had fibt per-gressed so rapidly in England as in America was on account of the difference which had arisen between the Post Office and the first occupy Keypt, where the greatest in-terest had been manifested in the telephone. and he hoped in two months time that they would have an important system of tele of phones at work in Calculand Alexandria. are new to us and strikingly good. THERE can be no question that the relation of H. E. the Governor with his official subordinates are more strained at this moment than they have ever been, probably, since the Colony became a British Dependency. According to our morning contemporary, the Attorney General and Dr F. Stewart were pitted, at the meeting of the Executive Council, against H. E. the Governor and the Officer Commanding the Troops. From this fact, and from the resignation of Dr Stewart as acting Colonial Secretary, peop will doubtless draw such conclusions as the tify. We are not certain what the official natorial narratives of this affair W their way to the Secretary of State.

ing return to be obtained would be that o the number of squabbles that have arisen in official circles in this Colony since Governor Hennessy assumed his duties, the nature of the disagreeable business that caused the rupture in each case, the number of officials who have resigned certain posts, and, above all, the number of complaints that have gone Home to the Secretary of State. Now this would make quite a formidable document; but still one thing improved by the trip. Seriously, however, there is little wonder that the administration of this Government is vacillating, feeble,

THE following notice, taken from the the report. Scotsman of 21st June, will be of interest to many residents, especially to those who can recall dramatic experiences in the Matshed Theatre sixteen or seventeen years

Last night there began at the Princess's Theatre an engagement which should possess a certain peculiar interest for old Edinburgh playgoers. Mr Henry Murray, the son of the manager who is undoubtedly the most famous in the annals of the local theatre. made his first appearance on the Edinburgh stage—and also, we believe, his first as actor by profession-in the arduous character of Sir Pertinax MacSycophant, in Chairman and the Directors. Macklin's comedy, "The Man of the World." The reason why this play has kept the stage for more than a century, while so many have become obsolete which are far its superiors in plot, construction, and brilliancy of dialogue, is to be found in the fact that, while manners change, human nature does not; and the saturnine old author of "The Man of the World" ombodied in Sir Pertinax, and help up to the public scorn, traits and attributes which are not less common now, perhaps, than in the days when George the Third was King, though their manifestations may be different. The portraiture of servility, want of principle, and devotion to worldly success which the character presents is perhaps over-coloured, but it is the very breadth and exuberant force with which it is delineated that are the secrets of its vitality. The part is one round which many theatrical traditions have gathered. It has been essayed, with varying success, by many of the greatest English actors of the last hundred years. That Mr Murray should have selected it for his debut proves at least that he is not wanting in courage; but his performance of it last night shows that his confidence in his own resources was not without justification. He has evidently thought out and studied every detail of the character, and the result is a reading which is always intelligent, often artistic, and has, besides, the attraction of being, for all practical purposes, original. Whether it expresses the author's conception is another success of his "booing" policy, but he does it genially. He is not merely, as he should be, earnest in the furtherance of his schemes, and quite ready to descend to any act of meanness or dishonesty in order to promote them; he is also full of unctuous satisfaction with his own career, and it keeps him in good humour with himself and the rest of the world till the moment when his contrivances are marred on the eve of final triumph by the perverse honesty of his son. The tragic element in the character, the almost ferocious earnestness with which Sir Pertinax pursues his contemptible ends, is, in fact, kept out of sight till, under the sting of disappointment, the innate brutality and coarseness of the man are revealed. A good deal might be said for this conception of the part, and it is certain that Mr Murray works it out with genuine histrionic art, and fully impresses it on his audience. There is no trace of inexperience in his manner or delivery; if correct, no fault is to be found with the manner in which he presents it. He was, Mr F. W. Wyndham (the son of another

DIAS v. MALABUNA ($21.50). -This was one of those money lending cases which seem to be prevalent amongst Portuguese. Plaintiff said she lent money to the defend ant on two occasions, in all amounting with interest to $21.50. Defendant admitted the loan which had been given to his wife, but alleged that the money had been repaid with the exception of $3.50. Both parties swore positively in opposite directions. Defendant's wife was also examined and swore that the money had been repaid. A youthful Chinaman, servant to the plaintiff, gave evidence as to taking letters to the defendant asking for payment.

The Judge said he thought the woman must have been very stupid if she had paid the money and got no receipt. His refusal to sell land at Stanley stopped the erection of salt works. Important works initiated by his predecessor have been either diverted from their intended purpose or stopped altogether; as, for instance, the large new cattle market at Lap Sap Wan, which was erected at great cost some years ago, has never been used up to the present. Remarks.

TITHE widely-expressed regret at the dis-China and Japan, has induced the publishers of this journal to issue a publication similar in object and style, but slightly modified in certain details.

THE CHINA REVIEW, or Notes and Queries on the Far East, is issued at in- in connection with , we have opened tervals of two months, each number containing about 60 octavo pages, occasionally DIRECTORY, applications for enrolment illustrated with lithographs, photographs, woodcuts, &c., should the papers published demand, and the circulation justify, such extra matter. The subscription is fixed at $6.50 postage paid, per annum, payable by non-residents in Hongkong half-yearly in advance.

The publication includes papers original and selected upon the Arts and Sciences, City Hull, Library (8,000 volumes) and Ethnology, Folklore, Geography, History, Literature, Mythology, Manners and Customs, Natural History, Religion, &c., &c., of China, Japan, Mongolia, Tibet, the Eastern Archipelego and the "Far East" generally. A more detailed list of subjects upon which contributions are especially invited is incorporated with each number. Original contributions in Chinese, Latin, French, German, Spanish, Italian or Portuguese, are admissible. Endeavours are made to present a resumé in each number of the contents of the most recent works bearing on Chinese matters. Great attention is also paid to the Review department. Notes and Replies are classified together as "Notes" (head references being given, when furnished, to previous Notes or Queries), as are also those queries which though asking for information, furnish newor unpublished details concerning the matter in hand. It is desirable to make the Queries proper as brief and as much to the point as possible.

The China Review for July and August, 1875, is at hand. It says that forty-two ossays were sent in to compete for the best paper on the advantages of Christianity for the development of a State. All our learned societies should subscribe to this scholarly and enterprising Review. It is a sixty paged, bi-monthly, repertory of what scholars are ascertaining about China. lecture on Chinese Poetry in this volume is alone worth the price of the Review. dress China Review, Hongkong. - Northern Christian Advocate (U.S.)

Trubner's Oriental Record contains the following notice of the China Review :- "This is the title of a publication, the first number of which has lately reached us from Hongkong, where it has been set on foot as in some respects a continuation of Notes and, Queries on China and Japan, the extinction of which useful serial a year or two ago has been much regretted in Europe as well as in China. The present publication, judging by the number now before us, is intended to occupy a position, as regards China and the neighbouring countries, somewhat similar to that which has been filled in India by the Calcutta Review. The great degree of attention that has been bestowed of late years upon the investigation of Chinese literature, antiquities, and social developments, to say nothing of linguistic studies, has led to the accumulation of important stores of information, rendering some such channel of publicity as is now provided extremely desirable; and contributions of much interest may fairly be looked for from the members of the foreign consular services, the Chinese Customs' corps, and the missionary body, among whom a high degree of Chinese scholarship is now assiduously cultivated, and who are severally represented in the first number of the Review by papers highly creditable to their respective authors. In a paper on Dr. Legge's She King, by the Rev. E. J. Eitel, to which the place of honour is deservedly given, an excellent | LEGALISED TARIFF OF FARES FOR CHAIRS, summary is presented of the chronological problems and arguments involved in connexion with this important work. Some translations from Chinese novels and plays are marked by both accuracy and freshness of style; and an account of the career of the Chinese poet-statesman of the eleventh century, Su Tung-p'o, by Mr. E. C. Bowra, is not only historically valuable, but is also distinguished by its literary grace. Beside notices of new books relating to China and the East, which will be a useful feature of the Review, if carried out with punctuality and detail, we are glad to notice that "Notes" and "Queries" are destined t find a place in its pages also. It is to be hoped that this opening for contributions on Chinese subjects may evoke a simila degree of literary zeal to that which wa displayed during the lifetime of its prede cessor in the field, and that the China Review may receive the support necessary to insur its continuance. The publication is intend ed to appear every two months, and wil form a substantial octavo magazine.

issued under purely native direction. The chief support of the paper is of course derived from the native community, amongst whom also are to be found the guarantors and securities necessary to place it on a business and legal footing. The projectors, basing their estimates upon the most reliable information from the various Ports in China and Japan. -from Australia, California, Singapore. Penaug, Saigon, and other places frequented by the Chinese, - consider themselves justified in guaranteeing an ultimate circulation of between 3,000 and 4,000 copies. The advantages offered to advertisers are therefore unusually great, and the foreign community generally will find it to their interest to avail themselves of
